

Android zero-touch enrollment

An Efficient Onboarding Solution for Your Business

Android

What is Android zero-touch enrollment?

Android zero-touch enrollment allows organisations to quickly and simply deploy Android devices at scale, with full management and applications personalised to each employee's needs.

With Vodafone, zero-touch allows you to ensure that devices are configured with the right settings online, while the devices are delivered direct to your employees for out-of-the-box activation.

Android Enterprise Gold Partner

At Vodafone Business, we have the experience to ensure you can integrate Android with ease into your business. As a certified Android Enterprise Gold Partner, we have met Android's advanced level of business, product and performance requirements to support your enrolment with:

- Over 200 salespeople certified within the Android Enterprise Academy
- Technical and expert training achieved at a Gold level within the Android Enterprise Partner Program

We can help you deploy your devices, at scale, while ensuring your employees can start working without the long device set ups and calls, all with Android's multi-layered security so your company data stays safe.

Get the best possible connectivity experience

Get the performance, reliability, and flexibility you need to ensure your devices are configured and secure with Android zero-touch enrollment.

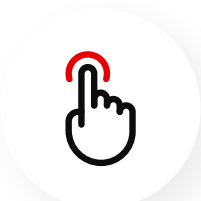

Android zero-touch enrollment offers several benefits for your organisation, IT department and employees:

Control

Manage your fleet of devices with enforced management and security to protect your brand

- Easily deploy Android devices at scale
- Maintain control and security without the hassle
- Enroll devices in device management during initial set up
- Enforce security policies and restrictions
- Ensure devices remain registered and re-enrolled after any factory reset

Choice

Take advantage of expanding device choice, to include more and different devices

- Experience the fastest Android set up option across a growing portfolio of devices from a single platform
- Create device configurations in the cloud and have them automatically pushed to devices during set up

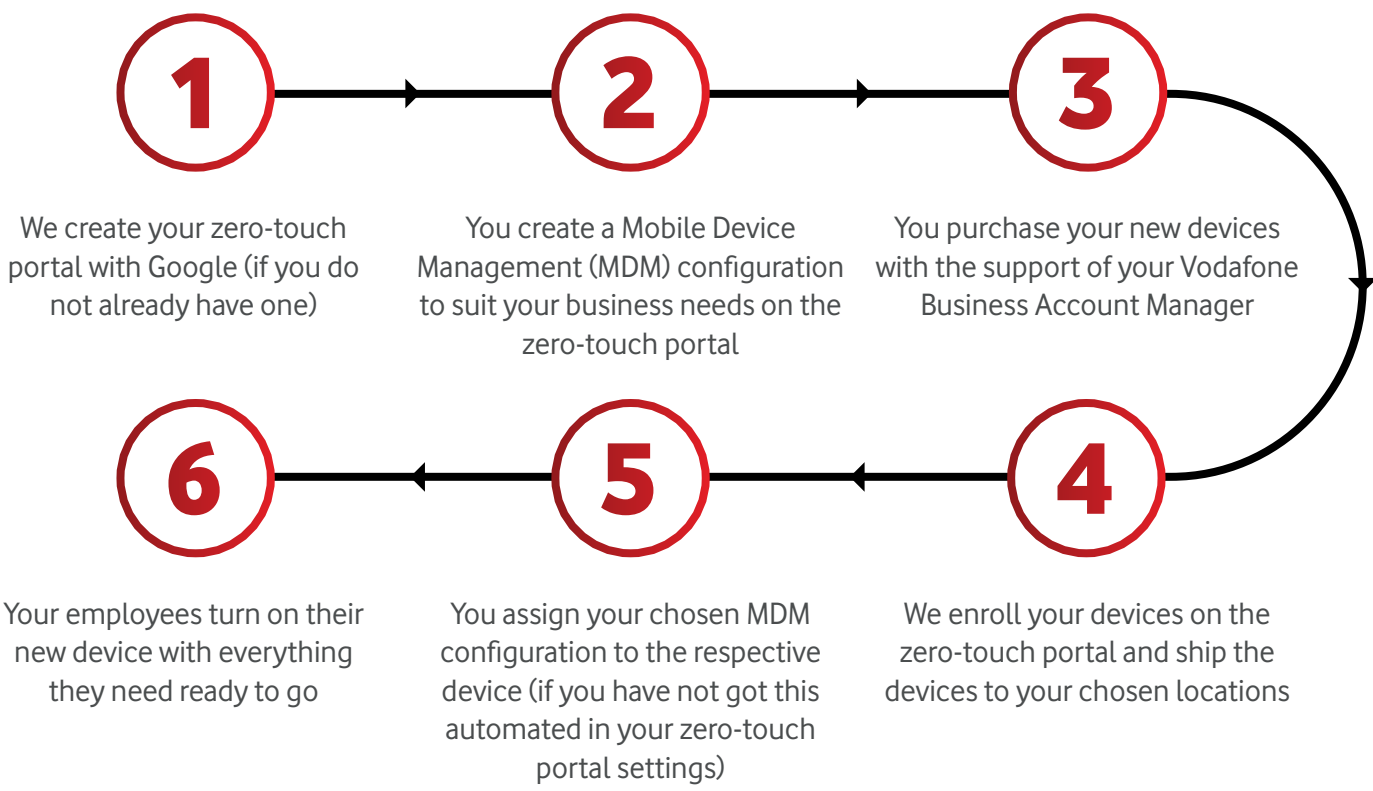

Productivity

Create a win-win for your IT teams and employees by freeing up your help desk and getting employees productive faster

- Enrol and configure devices remotely
- Customise each device to give end users the configuration, security and apps they need at first use
- Enable end users to self-enroll during a simple setup process on the device without IT assistance
- Automate inventory management input

These benefits make Android zero-touch enrollment an efficient and effective solution for managing corporate-owned Android devices.
